PRES. ALEY

Brief but Impressive Ceremonies Thursday Morning

One of the most important events in the history of the University of Maine took place in Chapel on Thursday morning, when the governmental reins of the institution were given over to Dr. Robert J. Aley by Acting President James N. Hart. Though the ceremonies were very brief, the entire student body, Faculty, and friends of the institution were impressed by the significance of the occasion.

Dr. Fernald conducted the Chapel exercises and it seemed only fitting that a man who has been a former president and who has for years been interested in the life and growth of the institution, be present and lead the exercises upon such a momentous occasion.

After Dr. Fernald had opened the services, Acting President Hart spoke on the coming of Dr. Aley to assume the presidency of the University and spoke briefly upon the request which he had made to the student body at the beginning of the year to cooperate with the Faculty in the management of the institution. He expressed himself as well pleased with the results obtained by this co-operation and then called upon President Winslow of the Board of Trustees to present Dr. Aley.

Mr. Winslow outlined the difficulties experienced in choosing a man who should be so constituted as to grasp all the details of such an institution and to direct the policies in such a manner that the best results would be obtained. He spoke of the position which the University now held among the people throughout the State, and expressed his appreciation of the generosity with which they had come to the financial support of the institution. He also urged that the student body give their whole support and loyalty to the administration in order that in the years to come the future of the University of Maine should assume an aspect even brighter than ever before. After these few remarks he introduced President Aley who spoke as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES:

I trust that I fully appreciate the honor conferred by you in selecting me as President of this Institution. I realize, in part, at least, the great responsibility imposed upon me. I shall try to meet this responsibility with such courage and honesty of purpose that your faith in me may be fully justified.

MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY:

For the past twenty-one years, I have been a member of a college faculty. I cannot forget this experience if I would. I would not forget it if I could. I trust that the title of President of the institution shall in no way bar me from being a co-worker with you. Your interests are mine. I sincerely hope that my interests may be yours.

STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY:

At the opening of the year, Acting-President Hart requested your co-operation in the work of the institution. From all sources the word comes that this request was granted in a whole-souled and enthusiastic manner. This spirit of helpfulness has been appreciated by every one connected with the institution. If Acting-President Hart, familiar with the traditions of the institution and personally acquainted with you, felt the need of your help, I, a stranger in your midst, totally unacquainted with the traditions and customs of the Campus, need your co-operation far more than he did. What, out of the goodness of your hearts you granted to him as a concession, you should, out of your sense of fair play, grant to me as a right.

Long before I reached the age of discretion I chose teaching as my profession. I have never regretted the choice. I do not remember that I have ever been tempted to change my early choice by the luring call of any other profession.

Contact with young men and women in the dream days of youth is wine to my soul. My daily prayer is that this supreme joy may never be denied me. I want to be a friend to each of you and I want each of you to be a friend to me. To realize this most desirable relation, we must all be open, frank, honest. Under no circumstances must we allow any fictitious barriers to come between us. We must be slow to believe idle reports of each other. We must be sure to give to each other the same sort of a square deal that we demand for ourselves.

In conclusion, allow me to say in the language of my native state, the latch-string at the President's house is continually out for each of you. Mrs. Aley and I are lovers of youth. You will disappoint us sorely if you do not pull that latch-string often.

PENOBSCOT VALLEY ALUMNI

Entertain Pres. Aley at Banquet in Bangor

Following a succession of delightful meetings with various bodies of Alumni of the University in Chicago, Washington, and New York, President Aley received another royal reception at a banquet given in his honor last Wednesday evening at the Colonial Apartments in Bangor by the Penobscot Valley Alumni Association. One hundred members, old and young, were present, and rarely has there been a more enthusiastic gathering of Maine men.

President Aley received a warm welcome and his able address made every man's heart tingle with the feeling that the administration of the University has been placed in the right hands. Many of the best known alumni of the institution were present, and after a sumptuous banquet these men discussed the past of the University, its present condition and standing, and the prospects for the future. William B. Pierce, '90, the president of the Association, acted as toastmaster in the absence of W. R. Pattangall, who was prevented by illness from attending, and the speakers were William T. Haines, '76, Samuel W. Gould, '77 and Dr. Aley.

The speech of the new President was as follows:

It is entirely impossible for me to express my appreciation of this reception given by the Alumni. I realize that the real strength of any institution is measured by the loyalty of its graduates. I also realize that no one at the head of an institution can hope for success unless he has the loyal support of the sons of the institution. It has been my pleasure to meet the Alumni Associations in Chicago, Washington and New York. In every case there has been marked enthusiasm and hearty, whole-souled promises of support. To find the same conditions in the great Alumni Association at the University itself completes the assurance of loyalty, and makes me feel that I have been admitted to the inner circle of this University family.

I am happy, indeed, to receive the roses before the thorns begin to appear; the memory of the roses will make it easier to stand the pain of the thorns that is sure to come occasionally in administrative work. In the hours of struggle with the problems that are hard, I shall remember these meetings and renew my strength in the thought of your sympathy and support.

It would be foolish, indeed, for a stranger, coming to the head of a great state university, to announce at the outset any specific policy—specific policies must rest upon specific understanding of conditions. The Board of Trustees, at the time of my election, assured me that the institution had momentum enough to carry it successfully through the year. My ten days' study of conditions on the Campus make me sure that the Board did not overstate the fact. For the most part during this first year, my time must be given to a study of the past and the present, and to the pleasant privilege of becoming intimately acquainted with the people of the State. When equipped with all the things that such a study and acquaintance will give, then it will be time to announce specific policies.

A state university exists primarily to serve the state. It is not founded to further the cause of any sect, party, or class. It exists for the whole people. It must serve the people and all their interests in a direct way; it must help the agriculture, the horticulture, and the animal industries of the state. It must help solve the engineering problems necessary in the further development of the state. It must lead the way in the development of a rational method of conserving the natural resources of the state. It must lead the way in the discerning and exploitation of new resources. It must contribute its part in the production of a higher culture. A state university, more than any other, must keep in mind its relation to the state. Unless it can justify its existence by its ability to serve the state in many ways, it has but little excuse for existence.

As the servant of the state, it justifies its existence in material ways. In a higher sense a state university exists for the purpose of making men. It requires no argument to prove that men are the greatest assets a state can have. Since a state university is free from the caprice of wealth, and from the fixed notions of benefactors, it has a great opportunity to produce men of power and vision. Because it is a state institution, it has about it the atmosphere of freedom so necessary in the development of men.

The late William James said that the greatest thing a university can do for a student is "to make him able to know a good man when he sees him." The world is so crowded with shame that the ability to know the good is of supreme importance. The way to know the good is by studying the good. The greatest expert in the detection of counterfeit money that this country has known was a man who never studied counterfeit at all—he studied good money only. He was an expert in recognizing the good. If the notion of William James is to be carried out in an institution, it must dedicate itself to the study of the good—its students must be seekers of truth.

A state university belongs to the state, it is public in every sense of that term; its business must be transacted as public business; its policy upon all subjects should be open and straightforward; its ideals should be so high and so true that they appeal to the best in the state.

Since the institution belongs to the state, it shares with all other state institutions the possibility of becoming whatever the state wants it to be. It cannot go far in advance of the best public opinion of the state. It can, however, through its faculty, its students, and its ideals, be a leader in the formation of public opinion. In this way the institution has a large part in the making of its own future. The student who leaves the walls of his Alma Mater with the power to know the good and with the truth as his ideal, can do much to form the opinion of those with whom he comes in contact.

The growth of higher education by the state is one of the most remarkable things of the last quarter century. The growth of the state universities, however, has in no way interfered with the growth of privately endowed institutions. In the state of Illinois, the state universities, Chicago and Northwestern, have grown together. In California, the same is true of the State University and Stanford. All the states of the Mississippi Valley show to a greater or lesser degree similar cases. The truth is, that in every state there is far more higher education needed than all the institutions of higher learning now existing can possibly furnish. A state university, therefore, merely makes larger and freer the opportunity of broad and liberal culture.

In conclusion, I desire to say that Maine is now my state. I have come here to be a citizen and to give to the work of the University the best that is in me. I am sure that in this work I am to have the loyal support of the people of this State. If, in my ignorance of Maine life, traditions and history, I make mistakes, I trust that in the goodness of your hearts you may throw the mantle of charity over them.

The past has her lessons to teach. I want to learn them. The present has her duties to perform. To the performance of these duties I dedicate my entire strength. The future is radiant with hope. I rejoice with you in anticipation of its fullest realization.

The average cost of Yale's Junior Prom festivities was $122.90 a man, while the expenses of the entire Junior Week reached an average of $180.84.

MUSICAL CLUBS.

Excellent Concert in Chapel Saturday Evening.

The first concert to be given by the Musical Clubs this season took place last Saturday night in Chapel. The audience present should be measured in quality rather than quantity, but what few there were there enjoyed the concert and will take every occasion to hear them again. The work of the various Clubs showed much training and rehearsing and prophesied a brilliant season in the musical work. The concert was not the regular program that will be used during the state trips but consisted of selections by the Mandolin, Glee, and Banjo aggregations, the plan being to save the regular program to give at the time of the regular concert and dance in the spring. The management aimed to get a little capital to start the season with by this concert and to give the students and friends of the University a chance to hear them at their best in the latter part of the season. It would be impossible to place any distinct compliment on any one number of the program, the clubs and soloists doing more than could be expected of them thus early in the season. Prof. Thompson, the leaders, members of the clubs, and the soloists deserve a large amount of credit for the concert.

LECTURE TO ELECTRICALS

Mr. Larcher of Great Works Gave Interesting Talk Thursday

The making of pulp by the soda process was the topic discussed at a meeting of the students in the Department of Electrical Engineering last Thursday by Mr. Larcher of the Penobscot Chemical Fiber Company of Great Works. A good number of the students was present and enjoyed very much Mr. Larcher's detailed explanation of this method of making wood pulp.

EDITORIAL.

After the movement for an inter-fraternity council seemed well underway, two fraternities in the University have thwarted it on the grounds that there is no need for such a league. In so doing they have manifested their satisfaction with the present fraternity conditions here.

Of course, the approval or the disapproval of this proposition by the fraternities does not mean their life or death. Without a council they can go on in the same ruts which they have followed for the last thirty years. The question is: Is it not desirable to make the fraternity situation even better than it is now?

Any belief that the existing conditions are ideal, or even approach to the ideal, is ridiculous. One of the most common topics discussed among the fraternity men is the present conditions, why and how they might be improved upon. Few men are satisfied with the rushing system—indeed, most men heartily condemn it,—many desire all the fall initiations to take place on the same date, all wish to expell politics from student elections and to better the spirit among the fraternities.

Such things as these comprise the field for an inter-fraternity council. The present rushing methods are but the outcome of keen rivalry; they are fair neither to the fraternity nor to the freshman. A uniform date of initiation is a custom which has many good points to commend it. A spirit of cooperation among the fraternities ought to be developed to the highest possible degree.

These results, and many others, a council, consisting of one of the strongest men from each chapter, could bring about. No chapter would be injured by any pledging regulations that might be made, since a unanimous vote of the council would be required. In refusing to entertain the idea of a council the fraternities may well be "cutting off their noses to spite their faces."

Often when a Maine man finds himself in a crowd of college men, either alumni or undergraduates, he wonders if there may be any other Maine men in the gathering. As a rule he can recognize men who are or have been in the University during his course, yet there are 1500 graduates scattered throughout this country and outside of this country, few of whom we, who are here now, would know on sight, although we would rejoice to shake their hands when we meet them.

How easy could this recognition be made if it were only a custom among Maine men to wear some emblem! How frequently would an undergraduate or a student, walking along the street in some large city, be able to accost a person to whom he had never been introduced, and shake his hand as a brother Maine man! Fraternity men wear their insignia to ensure recognition. Why should not every Maine man wear some emblem, a button or a pin of uniform style, for the same purpose?

It is the customs which are passed down from generation to generation of students that give individuality to a college or university. It is the memories of these which bind men to their alma mater. Here is a custom, the sentiment and principle of which are meritorious. Will the students and the Alumni of the University consider it? One method of establishing it might be for the Senior class to adopt a suitable emblem.

Another custom which should commend itself to all good Maine men is that of always standing and removing the hat when the University Hymn and the Stein Song are sung. It was taken up by many this fall, but to make it effective it should become a habit with every undergraduate. Such a custom would make the songs mean more to us.

It is understood that the Board of Trustees will endeavor to have a formal inauguration of President Aley. In these days of college inaugurations, such a ceremony will be of inestimable value in placing the University before the people of New England and the educators of America.

If hazing could be revived here once in awhile it would not be a bad idea to cast those few headless, pride-lacking students who delight in marking and carving their names and numerals on the new waiting-room, into the cool Stillwater.

President Aley, too, has hung out his latch-string. Perhaps he has not done this quite in the sense that the fraternities have done it, but he has the same idea.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION

Dr. Aley Meets Large Number of Friends

On Friday evening, Dec. 2, President Aley had his first opportunity of meeting the entire Faculty and student body individually. The reception was held in the chapel which was tastefully decorated with palms and ferns intermingled with fir. In the receiving line were Mr. John Oak, Pres. Aley, Mrs. Aley, Mrs. John Oak, Dean Hart and Mrs. Hart. Pullen's orchestra of five pieces furnished delightful music throughout the evening.

INTERFRATERNITY BASKETBALL

Class Games to be Substituted for Fraternity Team

At a meeting of representatives from the several fraternities at Director Wingard's office on Friday afternoon, it was deemed inexpedient to institute inter-fraternity basketball on the Campus this winter. In place of these games it was decided to recommend to the Athletic Board that a series of class basketball games be substituted. The proposition is to have each class team play six games, two with each other class, the winning class to be that having the highest percentage at the end of the season.

VESPER SERVICE

The Vesper Service on last Sunday afternoon was under the direction of the Rt. Rev. Robert Codman, of Portland, who took as his subject "What is God, Where is God, How do we know that He is our God, and What has my God for me to do?" Bishop Codman said that the only way these questions could be answered by anyone was to look into the life and works of Christ in the story of his life from the Bible. Probably the most prominent picture from the life of Christ, outside of the crucifixion, is the healing hand of the Master. Looking around today, in this world of sin and sorrow, we find that same picture dominant; everywhere there is a helping hand for people in distress and it is the one thing that impresses men with the idea that God is present and that he has a connection with, and work to be done by, each one of us. All over the world, like a conflagration or huge fire, spreads the call of heathen people for Christianity and this too shows that every man has a call out for the God, His God, and a God that has work for each one.

The special music was Layton's Gethsemane, which was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Gray of Oldtown. Next Sunday a special musical program will be given under the direction of Prof. Thompson. Those present at the last one of these services will recall the very pleasant time which Prof. Thompson arranged and that there will be an especially large audience next Sunday goes without saying.

The Economics Club which was organized last year will hold its first meeting on Wednesday night of this week. It will be an even stronger feature this year and it is hoped to have all interested present.

M CLUB

Club Well Started on a Good Work

At the second meeting called for the purpose of starting a movement toward the formation of an M club in the University, held last Tuesday evening in the Club Room of the Library, definite plans were drawn up to bring the club into being. Prof. P. L. Bean was elected President, N. N. Scales, '11, Secretary, and E. R. Wingard, Treasurer of the Club. The following executive committee was elected:

Executive Committee: McHale, Θ Σ, McNeil, Θ X, Bearce, B Θ II, Cavanaugh, non-frat., Cobb, Σ E A, Worden, Δ T Δ, McCarthy, K Σ, Power, Φ H K, Pond, Φ Γ Δ, Sumner, Φ K Σ, Buck, Σ X, Phillips, A T Ω.

A Constitution was talked over and a committee made up of the following men was elected, Wingard, Sumner, Strout, Bean, and Shepherd. It was decided to mail certificates awarding the official M to all M men who have graduated since 1893, also that all M's awarded in the future should be awarded publicly in chapel or mass meeting.

Further plans were talked over but nothing definitely decided upon at the meeting. The following men were present at the meeting:

Bearce, Sawyer, Scales, Walker, Buck, Sumner, Strout, Cavanaugh, Whitney, Rogers, Bigelow, Crowell, McCarthy, Powers, Worden, Smith, King, Shephard, Ryan, McHale, M. McCarthy, McNeil, Cobb, Wingard.

LITERATI

Informal Meeting Last Tuesday Evening

A very pleasant meeting of the Literati was held in the club-room of the Library, Tuesday evening, November 29. The usual literary program was dispensed with, and in place of this an informal social party was enjoyed. Plans for the work to be accomplished by the Literati during the coming year, methods of interesting a larger number of the students in its work, and the general betterment of the society were the subjects of discussion by the members who participated. Dean Stevens and President Benson of the society were among the speakers.

Toward the last of the evening, the members gathered around the piano to sing University songs. C. M. Hodgkins acted as the pianist. After a pleasant song-feast, refreshments of ice-cream and cake were served to those present, an enjoyable conclusion to a well-spent evening.

PITTSBURGH ALUMNI

Banquet Next Saturday Evening

The Pittsburgh Alumni Association will have its Annual Banquet at the Fort Pitt Hotel, Pittsburgh, on Saturday evening Dec. 10, at 8 o'clock. It is expected that there will be an enthusiastic gathering of about 20 Maine men. Any Maine men who are or can be in Pittsburgh at the time are cordially invited to attend. The present officers of the association are: President, H. E. Cole, '02, Vice-President, L. F. Goodspeed, '01, Secretary and Treasurer, B. F. Faunce, '01: Executive Committee, R. E. Bucknam, A. G. Mitchell, G. F. Murphy.

BOSTON ALUMNI—ATTENTION

Every University of Maine man, whether an alumnus, a non-grad, or a student, is urged to make a special effort to take luncheon on Thursday noons with the MAINE men at the Bromfield Inn, 20 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass., from 12.30 to 1.30. Go up stairs, take a seat at a table in the front end of the room, and there you will find the Maine crowd. Pass the word along and let every U. of M. man in Boston on any Thursday drop in if only for just a minute.

THE INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Constitution Drawn Up and Ready to be Acted On

Representatives of all the fraternities in existence at the University met a few weeks ago at the request of the University Council to discuss the advisability of the forming of an Inter-Fraternity Council. If it seemed to be a desirable move, this committee was to take such action toward the formation of such a body as it saw fit. Each representative expressed the attitude of his fraternity as being in favor of a Council. A sub-committee of three was elected to draw up a constitution to be submitted to the entire committee and, by them, to their respective fraternities.

The sub-committee, on Monday, November 21, submitted the following constitution to the representatives for consideration by the fraternities:

I

The object of the Inter-Fraternity Council shall be to discuss and regulate all matters pertaining to fraternities that the Council wishes to consider.

 Φ H K, Σ X, Φ K Σ, Φ Γ Δ, K Σ, Δ T Δ, Σ A E, B Θ Π,
 Θ X, Θ E, A T Ω, and from such other academic fraternities as may be admitted by a two-thirds vote of the entire Council. An active member shall be defined as one who is paying active chapter dues and who has passed in at least seventy-five (75) hours or their equivalent of college credit at the time of election. An alumnus shall be defined as a graduate from the University of Maine of at least two years standing or a former student of good standing with at least two years of college credit, who has been out of the University five or more years.

III

Each chapter shall elect its own representatives to the Council. The active and alumni members shall be elected for one year. All elections to the Council shall take place prior to the organization of the Council each year.

IV

The officers shall be a President and a Secretary-Treasurer, who shall be elected annually by the members of the Council. The President shall be chosen from three fraternity members of the Faculty, nominated by the University Council. The President shall at all times be the custodian of the records and minutes of the Council.

V

The Council shall meet and organize during the third week in April of each year. Subsequent meetings shall be at the call of the President, or upon written request of five members of the Council.

VI

Any vacancy on the Council shall be filled by the active chapter concerned at their first regular meeting following such vacancy. In event of any regularly elected delegate being unable to attend a meeting of the Council, his chapter may select a substitute who shall have the power to vote as an active member, after presentation of credentials satisfactory to the President of the Council.

VII

Active members only shall have the power to vote. Any rules governing the rushing, pledging, or initiation of new men shall be adopted upon an unanimous vote of the Council. All other measures shall be adopted upon a majority vote.

VIII

This constitution shall take effect after ratification by all the fraternities named in Article II.

IX

This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the entire Council.

It was the hope of the committee that this constitution or a similar one would be adopted in time to be appended to a petition to the Board of Trustees, asking authority to carry out such rules as might be adopted by the Council.

Columbia University claims to have the only spherical sun dial in the world. It is a ball, seven feet in diameter which casts its shadow on a flat granite plank marked with the hours.

It has been estimated that students of the University of Michigan, during the last year, used 132,210 cigars, 33,180 boxes of cigarettes, 52,000 packages of smoking tobacco and 6,850 plugs of chewing tobacco. They also used 57,400 packages of gum and 100,000 bars of chocolate.

NATIONAL CORN EXPOSITION

First Time Maine Represented

The National Corn Exposition is to be held in Columbus, Ohio, January 30, to February 11, 1911. This Exposition will call together the best corn and farm products from every state in the Union. The plans include extensive building accommodations on the grounds of the Ohio State Fair Association. One large building will be devoted entirely to exhibits of state colleges and experiment stations. Here the agricultural institutions of the various states will effectively illustrate their methods of investigation and teaching.

The Maine exhibit will include the work of the College of Agriculture, the Experiment Station, and an extensive exhibit illustrating the work of the Maine Seed Improvement Society. Beside these features, the work of the State Grange and other agricultural organizations will be shown. This is the first time that Maine has been represented at the National Exposition and it is the aim of the management to bring a fine exhibit to the attention of the farmers of the Middle West.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB

New England vs. Other Parts of U. S.

The question before the Agricultural Club at its last meeting was "Does New England Agriculture have Advantages over Other Sections of the Country?" The discussion was led by E. W. McKeen, '12, and A. W. Jones, '12, and the consensus of opinion was that along some lines New England does possess distinct advantages.

At the next meeting Peabody, '11 and Rowe, '12, will discuss the profits of sheep husbandry in Maine.

RELAY TEAM

Trials Next Thursday 4.30

The men who are to try out for the B. A. A. Relay Team reported for the first time on the day after the Thanksgiving Recess. An unusually large number of freshmen were in evidence. Of course, early in the year as it is, nothing as to the strength of the team can be determined. The work until the Christmas Recess will be of the very lightest order, but the squad will get down to business immediately after that. Preliminary trials will be given the freshmen on the squad next Thursday afternoon at 4.30.

ALL "M" MEN

List of all Men who Have Ever Won Letter

In an effort to make a catalog of all the Maine men who have ever won their letter in athletics, the Athletic Board is publishing the list in as correct a form as it can, and desires that all mistakes shall be rectified immediately by Alumni and students. Certificates are to be sent in a few days to all men whose names appear in this list.

The Alumni are urged to peruse the list carefully and to make all additions and corrections possible, and the fraternities are also requested by the committee in charge of the matter to appoint committees to see if all their Alumni are included. All communications should be addressed to M. R. Sumner, Phi Kappa Sigma House, who is the chairman of the Committee.

Probable Inauguration

The most important meeting of the year was the inauguration of the new Board of Trustees. The meeting was held in the gymnasium and was attended by a large number of guests. The new Board of Trustees was elected and the inauguration ceremony was a success.

TRUSTEE MEETING

Probable Inauguration of President—Freshman Ruling Reconsidered

The most important matter taken up at the meeting of the Board of Trustees last Thursday was the inauguration of President Aley and it was decided to appoint a committee to consider the feasibility of such a ceremony with a committee of the Faculty. The members of the Board favored an inauguration on account of the added prestige which the University will acquire in the public eye. If the celebration is held it will probably take place as a part of Commencement, next June.

The Board also reconsidered the ruling which was enacted last spring to limit the number of Freshmen which a fraternity might have in its house. A committee of students consulted with several of the Trustees and was informed that the present rule, as it is worded, would not be enforced, but that the matter would be left largely in the hands of President Aley.

A leave of absence was granted to Professor Huddilston from Feb. 1 to May 15, which time he will spend in travelling in the Orient. The Board decided to hold a special meeting in Portland before the Christmas recess.

DRAMATIC RECITAL

"Servant in the House" to be Given Next Saturday Evening

The students and Faculty, and all others who desire to attend, will be given an unusual opportunity to hear a dramatic recital of a celebrated play next Saturday evening, when Miss Grace Chamberlain of Cambridge, Mass., will give a reading of "The Servant in the House." The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Round Table.

Miss Chamberlain is a well known reader, and the University is fortunate in securing her for this interpretation of Kennedy's famous drama. The recital will be given in the Chapel at eight o'clock, and the tickets are on sale at the University store on the Campus, and at Nichols' store and the waiting-room in Orono, at twenty-five cents each.

Mr. Chandler C. Harvey of Fort Fairfield is a candidate for the office of clerk of the Maine house of representatives and the prospects of his winning seem extremely good. He has been an active worker for the Democratic party in his home county and has received assurances of strong support from influential Democrats all over the State.

Mr. Harvey took the course in Civil Engineering and was valedictorian of his class at graduation. After working at his profession very successfully for several years, he purchased the Fort Fairfield Review and became its editor and publisher. In the eight years since that time the circulation of the paper has increased nearly three hundred percent and the quality has improved as well.

ATHLETIC ELECTIONS

P. R. Hussey Elected Manager Football

At the fall election of the Athletic Association on Nov. 22 the following managers and assistant managers were elected for the season of 1910: Philip R. Hussey, '12, manager of football; Ellis W. McKeen, '12, manager of tennis; Guy U. Dyer, '13, and Glenwood G. Tilley, '13, assistant managers of football; Howard B. Richardson '13, and John W. Hart, '13, assistant managers of track. The student body seemed to take but little interest, evidenced by the fact that an average of only 200 votes was cast in each of the several contests.

Famous Selections by Capable Speakers Next Friday Night

Through the courtesy of President Aley, his valuable private mathematical library, including a thousand or more volumes, has been loaned to the University Library, where it will be available for the use of students. The books will be shelved in the Maine Room and will be catalogued and made ready for use as rapidly as possible.

VERSE TO DR. ALEY

Humorous Expression of Indiana Students' Esteem

The following verse was written by students of Indiana University, after Dr. Aley had left the University to take up his work as State Superintendent of Public Instruction:

To Aley

(A Parody on Wordsworth's Sonnet to Milton)
Aley! Thou shouldst be with us at this day:
I. U. hath need of thee: Math is a fen
Of troubled waters: compass, chalk and pen,
Problems where equations mix in fray
Have lost their old inspiring sway
Of class room happiness. We are selfish men:
Oh! cheer us up, return to us again:
And give us virtue, power, ambition, aye, (A)
Thy soul was like a Star, of Heav'n a part:
Thou hadst a voice whose sound was good to hear:
So didst thou win our love in every way,
In cheerful friendliness; and yet thy heart
The lowliest duties on itself did lay.
